Director, Center for Leukemia
Massachusetts General Hospital Cancer Center
Associate Professor of Medicine, Harvard Medical School

Ephraim P. Hochberg, MD
Medical Oncologist, Center for Lymphoma
Massachusetts General Hospital Cancer Center
Instructor in Medicine, Harvard Medical School

Objectives

For hematologists, oncologists, oncology nurses and other interested clinicians, this course provides an overview of current treatment approaches and controversial management issues in hematologic malignancies.

We will particularly focus on lymphoma, myelodysplasia, leukemia, Waldenstrom's macroglobulinemia and blood clotting disorders. An update on the latest treatment options will be provided, aimed at helping clinicians better understand the role of new medications in the treatment of hematologic malignancies. Lectures will be clinically based and will include an audience participation system to review management of actual patient cases.

Harvard Medical School is accredited by the Accreditation Council of Continuing Education (ACCME) to provide continuing education for physicians. Harvard Medical School designates this educational activity for a maximum of 6.25 AMA PRA Category 1 credits™. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.
