Michael P. Leslie, DO, FAOA is an Associate Professor of Orthopaedic Trauma and Adult Reconstruction surgeon at the Yale School of Medicine. He serves Yale Medicine and Yale New Haven Hospital as the Chief of Orthopaedic Trauma and the Vice Chair of Quality and Safety.

Dr. Leslie began his Orthopaedic career at NYU-Hospital for Joint Disease in Orthopaedic Research in Adult Reconstruction when he was a student at the College of the Holy Cross in Worcester. Following three years of research he attended the New York College of Osteopathic Medicine in Old Westbury, NY. His Orthopaedic Residency was a program of the North Shore-Long Island Jewish Hospital System based at Peninsula Hospital after which he went to the University of California at Davis in Sacramento, CA to complete a fellowship in Orthopaedic Trauma.

Through extensive involvement in the AO North America, AO Recon and the Orthopaedic Trauma Association, Dr. Leslie has served as faculty and chairperson of numerous courses across the US. He was instrumental in the development of periprosthetic fracture modules of both hip and knee on the AO Surgery Reference. He is passionate about education of residents and fellows and pushing the limits of patient care about the hip and developing innovative approaches to acetabular fracture care.
