The Down and Dirty on “Clean” Skincare Products and Are They Truly Better for the Skin?

This talk will explore the market phenomenon of “clean” skincare products and what this actually means. We will discuss whether “clean” skincare products are actually better for you, have a lower risk of allergies, and are less likely to have potential harmful effects to your body compared to regular products. Finally, we will discuss the truth behind some commonly avoided “allergens” and “dangerous” ingredients using recently published data.
