

Understanding and Living with Dementia: Diagnosis, Navigating the Healthcare System, and Care Network

Date: Tuesday, August 1, 2023

Time: 12–1 pm (Eastern Time)

What is the difference between memory issues that may be normal in aging, and those that represent dementia? In this talk, Barbara Moscovitz, MSW, LICSW, will discuss the differences, how to proceed with an evaluation, and how people with dementia and their caregivers can adapt.

Featured Speaker: Barbara E. Moscovitz, MSW, LICSW

Barbara is the founder as well as dementia care and education specialist for the Dementia Caregiver Support Program. The program is part of the Dementia Care Collaborative within the Division of Palliative Care & Geriatric Medicine at Mass General. It was created to educate and support patients, caregivers, and healthcare providers. It offers opportunities for learning and connecting across the hospital and into the community at large. Barbara helps teach new ways of understanding dementia and how to best communicate and partner with those with dementia. She offers support and guidance for caregivers to feel empowered to foster their own wellbeing and resilience.
