for a discussion with
D. Scott McLeod, PhD, and
Christopher Keary, MD

Anxiety and Return to School

Management of anxiety as students return to school each fall is often a challenge for children and teens with an ASD profile. COVID-19 has exacerbated those concerns immensely. In this conversation, Drs. Keary and McLeod will discuss some methods to assess and support students with anxiety challenges as they transition into an increasingly unpredictable school environment.
