Alexandra (Sasha) Wong, MD

Clinician, Pulmonary/Critical Care at MGH

Tell us a little about your clinical practice and your role in your practice/division/department.

I am a clinician in the pulmonary and critical care division. My main clinical focus is in pulmonary hypertension, working with the pulmonary vascular group with Drs. Josanna Rodriguez-Lopez and Alison Witkin. I also see patients with the spectrum of general pulmonary disease (outpatient and on pulmonary consults) and spend clinical time in the intensive care unit. I am also the associate director of the Blake 7 MICU, working closely with Dr. Kathryn Hibbert who is the medical director. I am one of the co-chairs of the Critical Care Operations Committee.

When did you come to MGH and why?

I started my fellowship at MGH in 2016, completed fellowship in 2019, and have been on staff since that time.

What is one thing you love about your work?

The thing I love most about my job are the people I work with. I am lucky to have amazingly supportive and brilliant colleagues who I can come to for advice and guidance, and who have helped shape my career.
