

APPLICATIONS ARE NOW OPEN!

The Center for Suicide Research and Prevention

At Mass General Brigham and Harvard University

presents

The 2023-2024 Scholars Program

The Center for Suicide Research and Prevention (CSRP) is a multidisciplinary, practice-based center aimed at advancing and implementing innovative new suicide prevention research. It will support the development, deployment, and evaluation of practice-ready and clinically-focused interventions aimed at improving the identification and effective treatment of patients at risk of suicide. CSRP is launching the Collaborating Scholars Program in order to support innovative early career and advanced investigators with an interest in suicide research.

AWARD AMOUNT

The Scholars Program provides a stipend up to $50,000. Funds will be used as salary support.

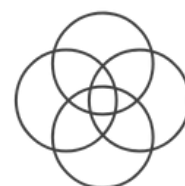

HOW TO APPLY

Complete our REDCap Application to apply! Click here
To learn more and read our FAQs, visit our website.

DEADLINE

Thursday, February 15, 2024 @5PM Eastern Standard Time, for the funding period starting June 1st, 2024 – May 31st, 2025.

HAVE OTHER QUESTIONS?
CONTACT US @ MGHCSRP@MGB.ORG

CSRP

Center for Suicide Research and Prevention