Meeting People Where They Are: Increasing Access to Cancer and Mental Health Care

People who have serious mental illness are more than twice as likely to die from cancer, less likely to receive timely, high quality cancer care, and more likely to be excluded from research. Join us to learn more about how the Collaborative Care and Community Engagement Program strives to improve cancer treatment for patients with mental illness.

Open to Mass General staff, patients, and the general public. To attend this free program, click here: <https://partners.zoom.us/j/84695666022>

Please submit questions you may have about the topic before the program to: PFLC@partners.org so that the speakers may address them during the session.

Featured Speaker: Kelly Irwin, MD, MPH

Dr. Kelly Irwin is a psychiatrist and health services researcher who founded the Collaborative Care and Community Engagement Program at the Mass General Cancer Center and the Engage Initiative, a coalition dedicated to ensuring that mental illness is never a barrier to cancer care. She is an Assistant Professor of Psychiatry at Harvard Medical School.
