Steps toward insurance reimbursement for hair for Massachusetts residents:

Every insurance plan is different and there is no guarantee of coverage in all cases. Below are guidelines to help you receive reimbursement from your insurance provider.

- Ask your physician to write you a prescription for "Cranial/Hair Prosthesis for medical purposes. Alopecia secondary to chemotherapy or radiation therapy."
- Get a receipt for the wig your purchase with the prescription and submit it to your insurance company
- Denials are common- if this occurs resubmit the claim with a picture of yourself without hair and request a review by medical review board. Send new claim to claim supervisor.
- Ask your physician to write a letter explaining that the prosthesis is needed as a medical necessity and is not cosmetic
- Keep a copy of all correspondence, document telephone conversations (with dates and person spoken to) in writing. Most policies do not spell out exclusions under prosthetics; check your policy carefully.

NOTE: Original Medicare does not cover the cost of hair prostheses, but Medicare Advantage plans may.

Ask your health insurance company (primary and secondary) about coverage for your hair prosthesis and how to submit a claim.

Massachusetts residents: Massachusetts law provides for coverage of hair prosthesis up to $350 per calendar year for anyone undergoing cancer treatment.

Other states covering hair prostheses:

CT, DE, FL, MD, MN, MO, NH, NM, OK, and RI

Check with your insurance company for details.
